

SID and Humanity House present a
BREAD & BRAINS with:

Willem Post

U.S. Specialist and senior visiting-fellow at Clingendael Institute

The Magic of New York – Lessons for The Hague
Thursday 19 December 2013

Do you want to make the most out of your lunch break?

Join this debate with Willem Post, enjoy a great lunch, and meet new people in the cosy setting of the Humanity House, on Thursday 19 December 2013.

Willem Post explains in his new book, 'The Magic of New York', the different factors of success that make New York the number one city of the world. What should the new mayor Bill de Blasio do to keep the magic alive? And what can international cities such as The Hague learn from New York? Willem Post will share his view on the success factors of New York, supported with interesting facts and need-to-visit places, and he will present his findings on how other cities can learn from the city of cities on their path to becoming a city that never sleeps. During lunch there is an opportunity to buy his book for €18,95.

Do you want to win the new book of Willem Post? Buy your ticket before Wednesday 18 December here!

Willem Post is specialised in American politics and foreign policy, and is one of the most requested U.S. expert from the Netherlands. He studied Modern American History and International Relations at Leiden University. As U.S. specialist he has worked for several media-organisations, such as the NOS and BBC World. Willem Post is writer of six books about the political, historical and social developments in the United States of America, including 'Obamaworld' (2009).

Logistical details: Thursday 19 December - Time: 12:30-13:30 (lunch available from 12:00) - Location: Humanity House, Prinsegracht 8, The Hague - Language: English Admission: €10* (includes organic lunch and coffee/tea). Register before 18 December through: aanmelden@humanityhouse.org